Pastor Speaks

God Is There

Recently the Billy Graham movie "Two A Penny" played at the Plaza Theater in Lynchburg. The closing scene of the production was quite moving as Jamie Hopkins raised his eyes to heaven and said, "If you are real Lord, be real to me!" For most of his life Jamie had denied any of the claims of Jesus Christ and had totally pushed every thought of anything spiritual out of his life. He wanted to be something special and a self-made man. He didn't want to cost just "two a penny". Finally, however, life began to overwhelm him, and in a moment of spirit-wrought humility he prayed the prayer, "Lord, please be real to me!"

God always hear an honest prayer such as this. In Acts, chapter 10, a devout Roman soldier named Cornelius was praying to God one day when he was interrupted by a vision in his prayer. Cornelius, hearing a voice, said, "What is it, Lord?" God answered, "Your prayers have come up before me, and I am now prepared to answer what you have been praying for." In effect Cornelius had been praying, "Lord, show me more about yourself."

"ALIVE AND WELL"

Lesson for November 7, 1971

Background Scripture: Psalms 104; Acts 14:15-17; Colossians 1:15-17.
Devotional Reading: Job 38:1-11.

A bumper strip on the car ahead of me read: "GOD IS ALIVE AND WELL IN MY BACKYARD!"

I mused on that proclamation for the next fifty miles, what did it mean? To begin with, it probably was intended to indicate that the driver was one of those people who do not accept the claim that "God is dead!" In a sense, he was saying that he knows God "lives" because he encounters God in his own life.

"Thou Art Very Great!"

This is the kind of faith we find so often in the Book of Psalms. Very seldom is it a speculative faith that reasons its way to God. Much more, it is the faith of someone who experienced that "God is alive and well in my backyard!" The Psalmist believes in God because he sees him work in his world. For him life is full of the sights and sounds of a God who does things.

Many of us would like to live in such a world today. We wish we could hear and see God at work in our world. Ironically, we do live in that kind of world. The sounds and sights are the same as those that the Psalmist heard and saw. Through the trappings of civilization have radically changed since the day of the Psalmist, it is still pretty much the same world; the sun, the moon, the stars, the seasons, the elements- despite all that we have learned about them -- exist pretty much as they existed thousands of years ago.

The difference is with us. Feeling largely selfsufficient, we manage to ignore the presence of God. There is the analogy of two men listening to a violin solo. For one man it is a truly inspiring experience, the beautiful music delighting the man's ear and heart. For the other man, the same experience is perceived simply as "so much horsehair scratching over cat-gut."

What God Did And Does!

When the Psalmist looked at the world, he was overwhelmed with the evidences of what God had done, He had created an orderly, dependable world, set on firm foundations. He had conquered the chaos and established both a moral and natural order. The world bore stricking evidence of the mighty works of God and the Psalmist could not help but exclaim: "Bless the Lord! O my soul! O Lord, my God, thou art very great!" (104:1).

When the Psalmist looked at his world he saw a God who was not dead or even in retirement, but the Lord who was alive and well and active in his creation. When you look at the world, what do you see?

(Based on outlines copyrighted by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. Released by Community Press Service.)

Jamie Hopkins in the twentieth century prayed the same prayer on cinema, but such a prayer can be prayed for real by anybody who wants to.

Christianity is not just going to church and reciting memorized prayers. It is not just trying to obey the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule, or the Sermon on the Mount. It's not pretending to be something that you are not. Christianity is allowing the person of Jesus Christ, the Son of God, to enter into your life, to make you one of God's cmidren, to show you his care, and to stabilize you in the midst of life's problems.

If you want to put him to the test then get alone with him, talk to him from the depths of your heart, tell him that you want him to be real to you, and he'll surely be real, for God is there!!

Abbitt Seeks Help For Peanut Growers

WASHINGTON — Rep. Watkins M. Abbitt, D-Va., said Thursday he has assurances from the Department of Agriculture that an extensive survey will be made of water damage to Virginia's peanut crop, a move aimed at clearing the way for loan assistance for hard-pressed peanut growers.

* * *

Abbitt, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, said he has been in contact with department officials in Washington and Richard A. Goodling, state director of the Farmers Home Administration in Richmond, and urged speedy action.

Abbitt said the information made available to him indicates "a substantial part" of the peanut crop now in the fields has been damaged by heavy rains and that producers expect it will be sometime before heavy equipment can be used for harvesting.

"Principal damage has been reported," Abbitt said, "from Southampton, Nansemond, Isle of Wight, Sussex, Surry, Greensville and Prince George counties."

The FHA has made "a preliminary recommendation" through its Courtland office, Abbitt, said that the area be "declared a disaster area and the re-evaluities is now being carried out by the state office in Richmond."

MODERNISTIC CLUB ENJOYS DINNER AT HOLMES HOME

The modernistic Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Geneva Holmes, where a very delicious dinner was served.

Immediately following the dinner hour, the president called the club to order for the regular business session. Plans for the year were discussed. You will hear more about them a little later on.

After the business meeting was over, the rest of the meeting was turned over to the hostess who had the club play the game, "Bingo."

The game "Bingo" was played by the members. Those winning in the game "Bingo" were Miss H. B. Stevens, first prize; Mesdames J.C. Webb 2nd prize; C. S. Turner, 3rd prize. The meeting adjourned until the third Friday in November. Our next hostess will be president, Mrs. Hamlet. The meeting will be held at her residence.

Miss Helen Stevens recently returned home after vacationing in Philadelphia, and New York City, visiting relatives and friends. Her vacation was cut short in New York due to the death of her aunt.

Mr. Robert Watson, Miss Helen Stevens, (Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watson) and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Parkey attended the forty-fourth anniversary of the Harmonizing Four, held in Richmond, Va. Sunday, October 23, at 3 p.m. A bus load from Pittsburgh, Penna. came down, and Miss Stevens' was especially happy to meet her two cousins Mr. Clarence Stevens, and Mrs. Mattie Jackson, who attended the anniversary.
